Project Topic: I will be creating a curriculum and hosting support groups for the Bariatric Patients of Kent Hospital.

Senior Paper Topic: I will be arguing that bariatric surgery is worth the risk and possible complications for most patients fighting against obesity.

Field Work: There will be much fieldwork for me to complete my senior project. I am planning to spend around 10-11 hours working on building the curriculum needed for the classes, around 2-3 hours hosting the classes, and around 1-2 hours finalizing the product, analyzing the results of the classes, and creating the surveys.

Final Product: I will have two different parts to the final product of my senior project. The first part of my product will include the curriculum I create to teach during my support groups. The second part of my final product will be surveys. These surveys will evaluate if the patients learned anything during the presentation.
